When a rollback is initiated, agricultural productivity valuation is removed from the property. Taxes are recalculated on the difference between the market value and the agricultural productivity value for the preceding three years using the tax rates for each of those years. Interest is calculated on the taxes due for each of the three years at a rate of:

"Please note that per HB1743, properties that change use from 9/1/19 through 6/14/2021 are subject to a three-year rollback at an interest rate of 5%. Per HB3833, properties that change use on or after 6/15/2021 are subject to a three-year rollback with no interest."

Full market value will be assessed on the property for the year the rollback is requested or for the year the change of use occurred. Once the rollback is initiated, the rollback will not be rescinded.

By signing this form requesting a rollback, you are stating that this property no longer qualifies for agricultural valuation.
